

Mr. Voie is in his third year as VP and chief lobbyist for EFO – the association for electrical wholesalers and manufacturers in Norway. He has previously had senior positions within different governmental organizations and entities. He has a broad political background from the Norwegian Conservative Party (Høyre), having held both elected office and various trustee positions. Voie has a bachelor's degree in political science and economics from The University of Oslo and a Master's degree in public administration from Copenhagen Business School.